"Little Boss!" The best 5c cigar in the city. Troxell Bros., agents.

The change of time of running the dummy trains goes into effect Nov. 1. The brick work on the new patrol building will be finished to-morrow

Some young ruffians erected consider-able disturbance at the matinee, yesterlav afternoon.

We are western agents for the cele-brated "Little Boss" cigar. The best fe cigar in the city. Troxell Bros. Permit to wed was yesterday granted W. A. Sewing, of Key Creek, and Al-vina Frohardt, of Lewis township.

The members of the police force are making preparations for a grand Thanksgiving ball. Full particulars will be given later.

The Chautauqua circle will meet

Monday evening at 7:30 sharp at 12, Main street. Take door the left up stairs. All are welcome. J. Drummond was arrested yesterday afternoon for carrying concealed weapons and disturbing the peace in the locality of the brick yard. The home opera company has dis-banded and the operas of "Ruddy gore" and "The Mikado" will wait for presen-tation until some time in the future.

The pavers are rushing things on Fourth street and Washington avenue. If the present pleasant weather con-tinues the projected work will soon be completed.

Chief Templeton had a fire engine put in readiness for an emergency yesterday afternoon in case there should be a fire in the northern part of the city, while the water was cut-off.

The hydrant at the corner of Wills and Seventh streets blew out yesterday about 1:30, and the water supply had to be shut off from that part of the city while repairs were being made.

The friends of the Streetsville Sunday school, met last evening at the house of W. A. Richardson, near the transfer. It was for the benefit of that school and a profitable as well as enjoy-able time was had.

The proprietors of the Bechtele hotel will celebrate the re-opening of that popular hostelry in a grand dinner today. The menu will be choice and extensive. Business men and their families are cordially invited. Rehearsal of "The Musketeers" at Dohany's opera house, Monday evening All members of the chorus are requested to be present promptly on time, as the conductoress would like to rehearse the whole of the two acts. The meetings in Overton's mission are growing so in interest that the house is full every night, and more room will soon be needed. The United Brethren church has been purchased, and the mission will soon occupy that. During his recent trip west C. J. Colby sold several lots in the Omaha addition. The prices paid were good, and the investors may be sure of getting a good return on their money, as prices in this andition are advancing rapidly.

There is much talk heard on the streets in favor of organizing a company for the purpose of boring for natural gas here. The value of a find of that sort would prove so great that many feel that the experiment should be made at

Hon. J. P. Dolliver addressed a large and attentive audience at Western college hall last night on the political issues of the day. Mr. Dolliver is an able speaker and eloquently defended the record and principles of the republican party. It is to be regretted that a larger hall could not have been secured, as many were unable to get in to occupy even standing room.

R. Trumbull has been appointed as weigher and inspector of freights at the Union Pacific transfer, for all the lines. The order goes into effect with the first of the month. The headquarters will from that date be in the city, and the position is one of much responsibility and importance. Mr. Trumbull has for years been connected with the railway ervice, and has many friends to congratulate him on his new position. The forces at the transfer are being rapidly increased, and there are yet other changes which will cause a still larger number of employes to be engaged there.

The fire destroying the buildings of the Omaha fair grounds causes a revival of the talk of consolidating the two fair associations in such a way as to use the grounds here for the accommodation of oth sides of the river. The Council Bluffs fair grounds are as near to the center of Omaha as any that can be procured on the other side of the river, and with the completion of the Broadway bridge the grounds will be very accessible by private conveyance, as well as by street car lines. The location is urged as one of the favorable points in con-sidering such a union. It is also urged that the grounds here are all in readi ness, and the track is one of the finest in the west. The scheme is also urged in the behalf that by a joint effort more and better horses can be got to the meetings than if each society pulled for

All Sorts of People. There were more spectators than usual in the police court, yesterday morning. Pat Hopkins was first called to time, for conduct unbecoming a model husband. He said that he didn't strike his wife but that as he was passing by her, she accidentally fell down and bruised her face. He was locked up until her testimony could be obtained. C. G. Anderson was a hereditary drunkard and proved to be a very good emperance lecturer while in limbo. He had been drinking in Omaha for some time, and came to Iowa to be away from his enemy. He said he spent his Sabbaths in some secluded spot reading the bible, but the judge thought he didn't read the right chapter, and stowed him away for future reference.

The cases of E. L. Nichols and Jane Smith for vagrancy were the last. They claimed to be canvassers, traveling together as man and wife. Jane said her partner promised to marry her over a year ago, when they started out, and if he didn't fulfill it, it wasn't her fault. Nichols didn't see how he could be a vagrant, when he had gold in his pocket and stopped at the best hotel, but the judge quickly enlightened him, and put them both under $100 bonds for

Close of Court.

Judge Deemer finished up the work of the term yesterday. There was little of public interest in the day's doings, most of the time being taken up in the hearing of motions, and in reading up the record. Judge Deemer expects to be here some day next week at a meeting of the district judges to be held here then, and he will take up then some few matters yet to be disposed of. Judge Loofbourow will open court on Tuesday, and after the call of the calendar will devote the first week to the hearing of equity cases. This has been the first term in which Judge Deemer has presided home. Although so roung a man sided here. Although so young a man to hold so important a position, being the youngest judge in Iowa, he has shown himself to be no boy. Dignified in manner, prompt in his rulings, fearess, yet ever courteous, he has won in the favor of the bar and of the public

His action in regard to the saloon cases has awakened naturally some feeling among those who had been fooling with the buzz saw, but with those even opposed to prohibition the responsibility is placed upon the law itself, which gives the judge no discretion, and what-ever may be his private views it seems that there was no manly or honest way for him to dodge the responsibility. He has shown no seeming malice or prejudice in these cases, so those who object to the result must blame those who

There is a move on foot for the fitting up of a complete gymnasium in connection with the Y. M. C. A. rooms, and also the fitting up of bath rooms. There has been for some time a gymnasium in connection with the rooms, and the young men have profited thereby greatly. It is now the intention to increase the accommodations and to inaugurate a system of regular and thorough exercise. The bath rooms will also do their part in invigorating and helping the physical culture. The association has decided to make a very reasonable charge for yearly tickets, so that almost anyone can afford to be a member and enjoy the privileges of these baths and exercises. A large number of the best citizens are not only helping along the enterprise, but many of them have decided to put themselves under a regular system of physical instruction and exercise. The association purposes offering the cheap-est and best sort of medicine. Those who have not already enrolled themselves should apply to the secretary, Harry Curtis, from whom all needed information can readily be obtained. Full cream cheese 17c, Troxell Bros.

Close of the Fair. The Catholic fair came to a close last night. It has proved a great success, not so great perhaps as it ought, in view of the worthiness of the purpose, but still a great success. The hall was crowded every night last week, and the variety of entertainments and attractions was such as to please the public greatly. The ladies have worked very zealously, and while the duties of the week have been heavy, taxing their strength to the utmost, it has been but a small portion after all. The work of preparation extended over months, and none but those concerned know what a drain it has been upon time, strength and means. While various names have been brought into prominence in connection with the fair, there has been one name which has been kept out of print, by the urgent request of its modest owner, Mrs. D. J. O'Neill. Those who are at all familiar with the work done in connection with this fair need not be told that, as on previous like occasions. she proved herself a successful general Her ability in managing, her untiring enthusiasm, her indefatigable labor, are not lost sight of and ought not to be allowed to go without public recognition. The Catholic ladies who have so heartily co-operated with her, all deulated as well on having such a capable leeder. The exact amount of the proceeds cannot be told until the ladies have had time to figure up the reports from the various departments. It will doubtless reach a snug sum, probably in the vicinity of $2,000. This amount, whether more or less, will be used in the new church building, which is fast ap-

HOW OTHERS SEE US. Views of An Eastern Man As to the Present and Future of Council

Bluffs. "It is sometimes said that Council Bluffs is too conservative in its investments; that it has no great institutions, such as are possessed by similar sized cities of the east; but if you could have accompanied me yesterday I would have showed you that such statements have no foundation in fact." So said a gentleman from an eastern city yesterday to the reporter. As he was in a talka-tive mood, and thinking he might give some points of interest to the readers of the BEE, the reporter questioned him concerning his experience and his con-clusions. "Yes sir," he continued; "you may well feel proud of your business men, for they are energetic and fully devoted to the interests of your city. Look at your wonderful growth, population and invested capital doubled in less than ten years. Why sir, it is wonderful!

"Among your finest institutions, I think, is that of the Mueller Music company. I am no musician, but wish-ing to see the best things you have, I visited them. I was courteously re-ceived by Mr. J. Mueller, the secretary and manager of the company, who upon learning that I was from the east volunteered to show me through his establishment. I was introduced to one of the salesmen who became my guide.

"Stepping into the elevator we were taken to the third story of the building where we started on a tour of inspection. Third floor contains the notion department, and we stood amid the bewilder-ing display of beautiful things that would make the heart of a child bound with joy, At least $20,000 was here dis-played in toys and fancy goods, games of all kinds, drums, books, pictures and frames, everything in stationery, pocketbooks, brushes, thermometers, cages, besides flags, masks, etc., for Fourth of July demonstrations. "Stepping into the elevator we de-scended to the second floor. As I said before. I am no musician and never sang a song in my life, but I really felt then as though I could sing 'Yankee Doodle' in four keys. Such a profusion of musical instruments! Upon the dis-play table were samples of everything the store contains: violins, guitars, banjoes, accordeons, flutes, fifes and all sorts of small instruments. Upon the other side was a display that would cause a lady's heart to break with envy: dressing cases, perfumery cases, work boxes and baskets, mirrors in new and elegant designs, besides a great variety of goods suitable to the holiday trade. There were crying and speaking dolls and dolls of all sizes and complexions. E. D. Fuller is at the head of this department, with C. D. Mueller as as as-

"Upon both the second and first floors is displayed an immense stock of pianos and and organs. Pianos from $13 to $1,000. The Hardman piano the clerk said, is their leading instrument. Its points of excellence are the 'resonant soft pedal' and the 'iron key bed.' The former sets the soft pedal so that the instrument is not worn by constant practice nor is the family disturbed. The latter device prevents the key board from warping and becoming uneven. They have also the Everett and the Mueller Music company pianos— both first cless instruments. They are in mahogany and rosewood cases, both solid and veneered. They have the Century and Royal organs, both first class and fully warranted. They are both made in separable cases that can be taken apart without the use of a screw driver. They are supplied with beautiful side lamps, besides the other points of utility and beauty possessed by other instruments. These goods are sold for either cash or on time payments, to suit the customer.

"The lower floor is a real picture of beauty. Upon either side are elegantly carved. solid walnut display cases. These contain the richer and more expensive portions of the stock. Here are band instruments in silver and brass; violins from $1 to $75; dutes, clairionetts, flageolets, guitars, zillophones, aurephones, etc., without number. Also an immense stock of violin and guitar strings imported by the company for their trade.

"Here also is their sheet music department. Eight thousand dollars is nvested in this portion of their stock done. It is the largest and best selected stock west of Chicago. Pieces of music ordered and not in stock can be had on the shortest possible notice. This department is in the hands of John Harrison, a man of large experience, assisted by Lena Schindele. Mr. A. Gans is bookkeeper, Four men are kept upon the road--two selling pianos and organs and two on small goods.

The house has a branch in Omaha, at 1814 St. Mary's avenue, which carries from thirty to forty pianos and or-gans. A. C. Mueller is manager, assisted by Ed Mueller.

"It requires no small executive ability to conduct such an extensive business, and that it is done with the greatest success reflects much credit on the manager, Mr. J. Mueller."

After the Pharmacists. Sioux City, Ia., Oct. 29.—[Special Telegram to the Brr. |-More than a year ago Zink &

Goselin, attorneys, at LeMars, instituted suit against a number of Plymonth county druggists for failure to comply with the pharmacy lay by reporting to the county auditor their retail liquor sales. It was found that a number of druggists filed their reports a few days late. The cases were taken into the district court and a decision rendered in favor of the druggists. The cases were then appealed to the state supreme court. Zink & Goselin then instituted like proceedings against several druggists in the city and county and the cases have been carried along pending the de-cision of the supreme court. That court now reverses the decision of the Plymouth county court, and it is to be presumed that Zink & Goselin will now push these cases. They have like cases in nearly every county in the
